*I like the way they represented the lesson, from noun → verb → adj.
After I learnt in that way, I feel Japanese is not so complicated compared to English or Indonesian. However, some words transformation are hard to remember.*

Generally, MISJ is ~~is~~ somehow useful in quickly build a ^{Japanese} basic for student. However, the course is too boring and use traditional "duck stuffing" teaching technique. Students are asked to memorize all the information. This is not quite effective as most student will forget what they learn after class finished. It is actually up to the students effort to do revision. Moreover, the review book is quite confusing and the information is hard to find.

The methodology for teaching used by MISJ is very effective. Compositions are very helpful for studying Nihongo. However, since we are graduate students, we somehow find it hard to dedicate enough time for studying. Sometimes we can't submit compositions on time. However, MISJ is very effective most especially for people who are not very busy.

so far I found MISJ was fun & enjoyable. I learn a lot new words to enrich my vocabulary. Some I ready learned before but good enough as a refreshment.

at first I found the MISJ were too strict, (maybe because I already had my basic Japanese skill) for instance when I wrote composition there are so many rules that I found really different.

week by week by following the rules I made it! Sensei remarked me excellent tt at the end.

MISJ is indeed an intensive methodology for teaching Japanese Language ..

Sometimes, it is really difficult to manage our time to study Japanese language and to do our own research requirements. Three hours of session is too long and results to information overload by the middle of the session. I think it would be better if the duration of one session is shortened. It affects the understanding and memory/refention of ideas of the students. Nevertheless, I really learned a lot from the program. ともお ありがとうございませす to our senseis. ;)

Please write a description of your impression regarding MISJ & its methodology.

The program focused on speaking and ^{writing} listening more than listening and reading. I think this is the most important good point of this program. It's really efficient ~~to~~ for teaching me how to use this language. But And everything is all beyond my expectation. Generally In a word, this program is very good. But I think ~~so~~ it's a little difficult for beginner because sometimes things are only explained once. If someone didn't catch something, it will become very hard.

とても たのしかったです。ありがとうございました。 I admire you for your hard work.
